The Discharge Directory

Home care, home health and hospice for every U.S. state, in one place.

For case managers, discharge planners, social workers and nurses. When a patient is going home, these are the three lists you reach for. Each state has its own page for each one, with every agency we could find, and Medicare's ratings where they exist.

Home care

Non-medical aides for bathing, dressing, meals and supervision, usually paid privately. Searchable by ZIP code, with the state's license rule.

Home health

Skilled nursing and therapy at home, ordered by a doctor. Every Medicare-certified agency serving the state, with Medicare star ratings.

Hospice

Comfort-focused care for a terminal illness. Every Medicare-certified hospice serving the state, with family survey ratings.

How to use it

Which list fits the patient

- Needs help with daily tasks, no skilled need: home care. Medicare does not pay for it; families pay privately, or through long-term care insurance, VA benefits or a state Medicaid program.
- Homebound with a skilled nursing or therapy need, ordered by a doctor: home health. Medicare Part A or B covers it when the patient qualifies.
- Terminal illness, comfort-focused care, prognosis of six months or less if the illness runs its usual course: hospice, under the Medicare hospice benefit.
- Many patients need two at once, for example home health visits plus private-pay aide hours.

No list handy? Every state uses the same address

Type the state name at the end, with dashes for spaces.

Washington, DC: home care uses “district-of-columbia”; home health and hospice use “washington-dc”.

Where the data comes from

- Home health and hospice: Medicare’s Care Compare data, refreshed with each Medicare release.
- Home care: state license files where the state publishes one, otherwise the federal NPI registry, refreshed monthly.
- No agency pays to be listed or for its place. A listing is not an endorsement; give patients the full list and let them choose.
